REDFIELD COLLEGE, REDFIELD, SOUTH DAKOTA

REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS

THE Directors herewith submit their Eighty-ninth Annual Report to the Congregational Education Society.

During the year 192 men in colleges and theological seminaries have received financial aid to the amount of $9,175.

As compared with 1895, when 335 men were aided, the number this year is significant, as showing the decrease in ten years of candidates for the gospel ministry, and that there is less dependence upon the Society for assistance. The amount offered (fifty dollars) is so small that the former criticism, that the Education Society by offering aid is really giving a bonus to men for entering the ministry, is no longer pertinent.

It is estimated that about one-third of all the students for the Congregational ministry now receive aid from the Education Society.

The bequest from the estate of Mrs. Elizabeth Ward, of Newton, Massachusetts, opens a new avenue of usefulness for the Society. The income from this fund must be used for the benefit of Christian young men seeking an education, and is not to be confined to those studying for the ministry. It will be productive within a year. The calls upon the Society for general student aid are increasing, and it is hoped that there will be an enlargement of this fund by future donations.

Eighteen academies have been upon the Society's list, but it was thought necessary to drop one academy, because its location was in a region comparatively well supplied with similar schools of other denominations.

The vital Christian atmosphere in these academies is the warrant for their existence; and in these days, when leading educators are asking whether the time has not come to inaugurate Christian education in our public schools, it is satisfactory to know that our academies are in the forefront of a new movement, and are setting the pace for the public schools.

There is no age limit for students in these academies, and this fact opens the door of opportunity to men and women too old for entrance to the public high school. Students of such mature mind prize the privileges of our academy, and go forth to do exceptionally good work in church and state.

Statistics show that these academies are large feeders of our Christian colleges. It is surprising to note the eagerness of our young Congregational churches in new regions for such academies to supplement the work of evangelization.

Hastings Academy, in Oklahoma, near the Indian Territory line, has recently been added to the list.

Five colleges have been aided this year: Kingfisher (Oklahoma); Redfield (South Dakota); Fairmount (Kansas); Rollins (Florida); French-American (Massachusetts).

Rollins College and Kingfisher College have been successful in largely increasing their endowment, so that, after the present pledges of the Society to these institutions are paid, they will not need the Society's further assistance. Fairmount College (Kansas) will probably complete its campaign for additional endowment within a few months.

Redfield College (South Dakota) has had a most successful year, both in the increased attendance and in gifts of money received. The college is reaching large numbers of young Russian-German men and women of the Northwest, and is destined to do a unique work for the section of our country now rapidly filling up with immigrants from northern Europe.

The French-American College of Massachusetts—whose name has been changed to American International College—is one of the most important institutions in New England. It faces an unparalleled opportunity. Money by the millions has gone out of Massachusetts and New England to aid Western colleges. The Directors believe that the time has now come for the Education Society and the Congregational churches of our country to listen to the appeal which this foreign college in our midst now makes. It is doing a work as far-reaching as is that of Robert College on the Bosphorus or the Doshisha in Japan. During the past year representatives of sixteen different nationalities have been connected with the college, among which are Armenian, Bulgarian, Greek, Portuguese, Italian, French, Finn. The representatives of these nations are coming into New England in surprisingly large numbers. The hour has struck for our churches to awake to the support of an institution quietly doing what the changed conditions of the day justify and the great movement of immigrants demand.

The college work of the Society will not be finished until it has founded colleges in Texas, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, Indian Territory, and New Mexico, and in some of these states more than one will be required as populations increase. Already has a generous supporter of the Society and a widely known philanthropist selected locations for these colleges in some of the states. The most inviting field is Texas, where a beginning should at once be made.

The Society has in New Mexico and Utah two academies and eleven schools of the lower grade. The obstacles to educational work in these two sections are peculiar and persistent, and arise from the religious teachings of two thoroughly organized and watchful politico-religious hierarchies.

In some instances the power of these churches is sufficient to draw away almost an entire body of scholars, and yet it will not do to cease our efforts in such places. While our schools are small, their influence is powerful, and in some instances the only Christian influence needed to combat ignorance and superstition.

New points, especially in New Mexico, could be occupied at once. The conditions are ripe for the addition of four new schools, provided the resources were in the hands of the Directors.

During the year the Society has become financially responsible for the Slavic Department of Oberlin Theological Seminary. This school is not a part of the seminary, nor was it supported from its funds, but has been for years maintained by money raised by Rev. Dr. Schauffler, who has so recently passed away. The Bohemian Training School at Cleveland, Ohio, has asked for recognition by the Society, and negotiations to that end are now in progress, so that it is probable that it will be added to our list.

The Congregational Home Missionary Society has appealed to the Education Society to open schools in Cuba to supplement its work of evangelization. Were the means at hand, schools could be placed at once in seven of the principal cities of the island. Conferences with the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions and American Missionary Association indicate that neither of these societies will enter the field. It remains open for the Education Society.

Thus it will be seen that the work of the year has been that of enlargement.

Christian education is the watchword of the hour in forward movements in church and state. The Education Society has come to the kingdom for such a time as this. It has the plant and equipment by which the Congregational Church can do a mighty educational work in this country, such as is carried on by the American Board in foreign lands and by the American Missionary Association in the South. Preaching the kingdom of God includes teaching the kingdom of God; neither one stands without the other. Were there no Congregational Education Society in existence today, one would be organized by the next National Council, in order to provide those permanent sources of manhood and womanhood which every nation must have if it is to be permanent.

The Directors also report, with reference to administration, that workers from the field have been drafted to present the different lines of the Society's work to the churches, and the responses of pastors and people have abundantly proved the wisdom of this step. Interest in our work has been created in quarters where it was not known before, and many individual givers have become our friends. The Directors believe that the churches will give intelligent support to our Society when our work is clearly set before them by the self-sacrificing men and women at the front.

REPORT OF REV. THEODORE CLIFTON, D.D.,
Western Field Secretary

THIS has been one of the best years in the history of the Western office. With the single exception of the year 1900, when Dr. Pearsons made a generous gift of $16,000 to aid the Society in meeting obligations to Pomona and Fargo Colleges and Pacific University, the income has been larger than ever before. The total in cash amounts to $31,428.57, besides $12,500 in five per cent notes from responsible men on a proposed endowment of $50,000 for Puget Sound Academy at Snohomish, Washington. These notes are negotiable at the bank and constitute already an invested interest-bearing endowment fund.

During the year, ninety-one new churches have placed the Education Society on their lists for annual offerings. The number of contributing churches is now larger than in any previous year; but there are yet more than one thousand churches in the Interior and the farther West to be gained to this great cause, and efforts are constant in this direction, with encouraging results. Last year ninety-nine churches that never contributed before sent in their offerings; and each year, with occasional fluctuations, shows progress both as to constituency and income. As the Education Society becomes better known, its broad and many-sided work grows in favor with the churches.

A good deal of personal effort has been devoted to raising money to relieve institutions in distress. Among the institutions thus helped are North Wisconsin Academy in Wisconsin, Rogers Academy in Arkansas, Puget Sound Academy in Washington, Windom Institute in Minnesota, and the Slavic Department of Oberlin Theological Seminary. Put in tabulated form, the chief beneficiaries of this specialized work, with the total amount raised for each school, stand as follows :

A SCENE IN THE CATTLE COUNTRY NEAR ONE OF OUR ACADEMIES

Puget Sound Academy, endowment notes,	$12,500
Rogers Academy, cash,	4,406
Windom Institute, cash,	3,280
North Wisconsin Academy, cash,	653
Slavic Department, Oberlin Seminary, cash,	512
Total,	$21,351

Most of this money has been procured by personal calls upon individuals between Sundays, the Sunday addresses delivered in the churches being depended upon chiefly to give information and to arouse interest, as well as to push forward the broad work of the Education Society. More than three hundred different persons have been visited in this way, and the above figures represent the generosity and interest of 217 different individual contributors. Small sums these as compared with the millions of the millionaire givers to the great universities! Many of these givers are comparatively poor, and their gifts represent real sacrifice. Small institutions these thus helped as compared with the larger colleges and the great universities! But does not history show that the humble missionary institutions of Christian education, from the early beginnings of Harvard College down to the obscurest Christian academy in the West, have done their full share in building up the kingdom of God?

By timely and vigorous help two institutions have been saved during the year, if not from extinction, at least from passing out of Congregational hands.

When Rogers Academy was visited last June, to deliver the annual lecture in connection with the Commencement exercises and to meet the board of trustees, there was a debt of $7,715; the principal was sick and absent from over-anxiety and overwork; the local trustees did not know what to do nor which way to turn; and the very life of the school was threatened with a foreclosed mortgage and closed doors. Straightway an outside piece of property was sold for $2,000, a grant of $750 from the general fund was voted by the Directors of the Education Society, and within a few weeks the necessary balance to cancel every dollar of debt was raised, chiefly in Arkansas and Missouri.

The outlook for this grandly useful school in its broad, needy field was never so bright and so promising as it is today.

In April Puget Sound Academy, at Snohomish, Washington, was visited and a movement for a $50,000 endowment inaugurated, with results already referred to as an encouraging beginning. Had it not been for this timely visit, under orders from the Boston office, this promising institution, the trustees of the academy themselves being witnesses, never would have opened its doors again, at least under Congregational auspices. But instead, its fine building and campus, delightfully located and worth $30,000, would have been lost to the denomination. So this school, too, is looking forward to the future with renewed hope. It has a great field and ought to be supported.

The death of Dr. Schaufler precipitated a crisis in the fortunes of the training school at Cleveland, Ohio, making desirable, if not necessary, a visit to Cleveland upon the urgent invitation of the Bohemian board to consider the situation and to counsel with the board regarding the future of the institution.

The result of this conference was the incorporation of the school under an efficient body of trustees and the enlargement of its curriculum, thus giving it a still better right to be and a still broader work to do. At the happy suggestion of some friend of the school and of Dr. Schaufler, the name was changed to "The Schaufler Missionary Training School," in honor of its founder and his heroic life.

The work of the year has necessitated wide travel into Ohio, Wisconsin, Missouri, Arkansas, Minnesota, and other states, even as far West as the Pacific slope. The presentation of the Society and its great cause to large and responsive congregations in seven of the leading churches of Seattle, Snohomish, Everett, and Bellingham in Washington, and before the state associations of Michigan and Illinois closed a busy year.

CHICAGO THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY FOREIGN DEPARTMENTS

German Department

TEN young men have been connected with the department this year. All our students have showed marked progress in the art of preaching. Every Friday one of them was requested to deliver a sermon in the chapel. Nearly all the students were invited from time to time by our German city pastors to preach in their churches, and performed their duties creditably.

Of the five graduates, Mr. Hoelzer will probably continue his work at Park Ridge. For the others places are practically secured. Mr. Schurr accepted the call from Java, South Dakota. Mr. Warkentien received and accepted a call from Sherrill Mound, Iowa. Mr. Joern will be sent to Glen Ullin, North Dakota, and Mr. Stahmer will probably go East. During the coming vacation, Mr. Wagner will work in Selby, South Dakota, and Mr. Kait-schuck in Hickman Mills, Missouri. Mr. Schmidt may be sent to some mission field. Mr. Ruder and Mr. Eiserér will pursue their trade.

While the outlook a year ago was very gloomy, the prospects for the next school year are better than ever. Not less than nine young men have either made application for admission into the institute or have declared their intention to do so. Some will sail for this country on the 26th of April and expect to register before the commencement.

The gifts for the German Institute amounted to nearly $1,400 net. With the subscriptions still outstanding, the total amount given by the German churches would reach the sum of about $1,700.

Swedish Institute

The number of students is twenty-seven, viz. : nine in the senior class, six in the middle class, and twelve in the junior class, which is more than it has been for five years. Fourteen of these students belong to Congregational churches and thirteen to independent churches. Fourteen have come to us from the Eastern states and thirteen from Chicago and the West. Nine are to be graduated this spring, two of whom will go to China as missionaries.

The Swedish Institute has now completed its twentieth school year. During these twenty years 242 students have been registered and 159 have been graduated, the present graduating class included.

Six of the students have had charge of churches regularly, and all the students in the senior and middle classes have preached in the Swedish Bethlehem Church, under Professor Peterson as the pastor of the church.

The Danish-Norwegian Institute

With the close of this year the Danish-Norwegian Institute completes the twenty-first year of its history. In 1884 Professor Grauer became connected with the department as one of the two Scandinavian students with whom the department opened. The next year Professor Jernberg began his work of instruction while yet a student in the seminary, and therefore at this time completes twenty years of unbroken service.

When this department opened there was not a single Congregational church among the Danes and Norwegians in America. There are now about thirty Danish and Norwegian free churches in the United States associated in this work, ten of them in the East and about twenty in the Western states. Besides these, there are as many more that are gradually drawing into fellowship with us, and in time will receive our graduates as their pastors and will help support the work of our institute. Nineteen of our former students are now laboring as pastors and teachers in the West and four of them in the East. The institute also has representatives on the foreign mission field and in Norway.

The students who have received instruction in the institute during the past year number thirteen, six of them in the graduating class. These have all been engaged for the pastorates of our churches some time ago. Two of them go out as missionaries, one to China and the other to Hawaii. The institute has had one of the very best years in its history, and the work of the graduating class has been especially creditable.

The professors have visited practically all the churches in their tours. Professor Grauer went among our Western churches this year, while Professor Jernberg visited the churches in the East. He has also made two visits of ten days each to Minnesota, soliciting for the seminary.

CHADRON ACADEMY AND TOWN. BLACK HILLS IN DISTANCE

COLLEGES

American International College, Springfield, Massachusetts

(Formerly French-American)

The name of this institution has been changed in order to be in accord with the facts. The old name was misleading; it not only failed to give but concealed from the public the true view of our broad objective. In the new name the word "International" declares the scope of the institution and the word "American" its type and spirit.

This is the only institution in the United States established and expressly adapted to meet the higher and Christian educational needs of the foreign races that are so rapidly taking possession of the land. It is unique in its respect for the distinctive genius and inherited tendencies of great historic peoples and in its endeavor to render them most helpful in the upbuilding of the great composite nation America is destined to become. While America has much to give them, they bring much that is valuable to America.

The greatest barrier to our work is race pride and prejudice—the American pride that we are all that we ought to be, and the prejudice that the foreigner is nothing that he ought to be. It is the part of wisdom to recognize his possibilities and make the most of him.

When he has saved out of meager earnings in Italy enough to bring his family to America he has shown as much enterprise as did the Yankees who went from Connecticut to western New York with ox teams a hundred years since.

Indeed, we are fast enough to use his power in material production. We estimate him as worth a thousand dollars to the country; we set him at work and commercialize him. We break him off from his traditions, and where is he? Very likely his old religion goes with other old things, and he is a wanderer.

The one thing he needs is what the aforetime Yankee had — an intelligent Christian leadership. Give him that, and he will found just as good a state. A liberally educated ministry — a ministry of the gospel, of healing, of justice, of instruction, of domestic life — has made America; and nothing less will make Americans out of foreigners.

As long as the preaching of the gospel to foreigners is committed to half-educated men imported from abroad their evangelization and Americanization will move very slowly. Rome is educating her priests in this country in nearly a dozen languages, and doing it better than anywhere else. Why should not we educate ministers in a dozen languages; and do it as well as we educate our own ministers?

During the past year we have had a larger number of races represented than ever before. Of the 108 names on the roll there is one each from Argentina, Spain, Japan, China. There is one Assyrian from Turkey; one, a daughter of Israel, from Siberia. There are thirty from Italy, two of whom are Waldensians. There are twenty-eight Armenians, one from Persia, two from Russia, the rest from Turkey. There are twelve French, one from France, one from Switzerland, ten of Canadian stock. Eleven are Bulgarians. There are fourteen Greeks, and, like the Greeks of all ages, they are scattered; they come from Athens, from Sparta, from Macedonia, and from Constantinople. Two come from the Emerald Isle, and there is one lone Yankee.

It is a picturesque group of young men and women. In mingling with them one finds himself traveling from one remote land to another, becoming acquainted with peoples of various types of life, with diverse ideals and historic tendencies, developed under different religions, yet is assured more than ever that "God made of one every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, having determined their appointed seasons and the bounds of their habitations; that they should seek God, if haply they might feel after him and find him."

And for what else has he gathered them here? We have been praying, with our eyes directed far abroad, that God would open doors for the gospel preacher. He has done so, and more. He has opened the widest door this way. Here is the opportunity of the American Christian and patriot. To raise up leaders from this immigrant population, and for it, is a gigantic task which will not grow smaller, calling for large plans and strenuous effort. The number that should be liberally trained is large.

The way to train them is a new pedagogical problem. The high standard of intellectual furnishing and discipline, of moral and spiritual culture, found in our best institutions must be maintained; but the curriculum, the method of teaching, and the attitude of the teacher must be adapted with care and assiduity to the peculiar and varying mental attitude of diverse peoples.

Fairmount College, Wichita, Kansas

The institution has made steady progress in almost every particular throughout the college year. Needed improvements have been made on the buildings, increase has come to the permanent fund, accessions to the library have continued, the high standard of teaching and scholarship has been maintained, the religious tone of the body of students deepened.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie last February notified the president that he would be glad to give the college $40,000 for the erection of a library building, if other friends would contribute the like sum to the general endowment. The prescribed condition is likely to be fulfilled.

Work on the new dormitory has been resumed, and the contractors promise the finished building by November 1, 1905. It will accommodate about sixty young men, besides the family of the manager. Furnished throughout, the cost will be fully $30,000.

A commission from the University of Chicago has twice visited the college, carefully studied the work of instruction in the class and lecture rooms, and the general condition of the college, and announced that official application by the college would doubtless secure from the university the relationship of "affiliation." It is probable that this relation will soon be established.

Some of the probable advantages to the college, from this connection with the university, are: free instruction at the university to all college teachers; free lending to instructors of costly books in special departments of study; lending of scientific apparatus; aiding the college in the purchase of apparatus, etc.; advising in the choice of instructors when desired; testing the work of instruction and the scholarship attained at the college by friendly supervision of the examination papers of our students; admitting graduates of the college to graduation at the university after a residence of three months, whereas a full year's residence is exacted from graduates from all un-affiliated colleges. "Affiliation" is terminable at the pleasure of either party.

At the college in June, Rev. Dr. F. L. Goodspeed, of Springfield, Massachusetts, preached the baccalaureate sermon, producing a profound impression on the great audience present. He spent four days in Wichita, and on his return home sent back a letter giving his impressions of the college. An extract follows:—

"I was deeply impressed with the scholarly atmosphere, the efficiency of the instructors, the high plane of attainment on the part of the students, the enthusiasm of the alumni, and the business sagacity and genuine interest of the trustees, who are among the ablest business men of Wichita. . . . Congregationalists ought to rally to the support of the college. Its possible constituency is large. It ministers to a vast territory. . . . Although Kansas is now prosperous its people have heaped up no large fortunes. They have been busy, they will be busy for years to come, in subduing a new land to agriculture and civilization. They need and deserve assistance.

" . . . In the few years of its life the college has already accomplished what some of our New England colleges required fifty years to do.

" . . . From personal knowledge I am sincere, enthusiastic and unreserved in my commendation of this promising institution."

During the year the college has employed a very energetic and efficient field agent, who has given his time to visiting the churches of Southern Kansas and the homes of the people, acquainting them with the college and its needs, soliciting students and pecuniary help. His earnest work is likely to produce large results the coming year in increased attendance of students and financial resources.

Kingfisher College, Kingfisher, Oklahoma

This institution has had an especially prosperous year. The winning of the $100,000 Pearsons endowment has given the school a place of power and prominence which adds greatly to the influence of the institution. Those who have labored here from the beginning are now permitted to see the result of their labors.

The next movement in contemplation by the management of the school is the establishment of an industrial department.

We are simply overwhelmed with requests of young people for opportunities to earn their way in school.

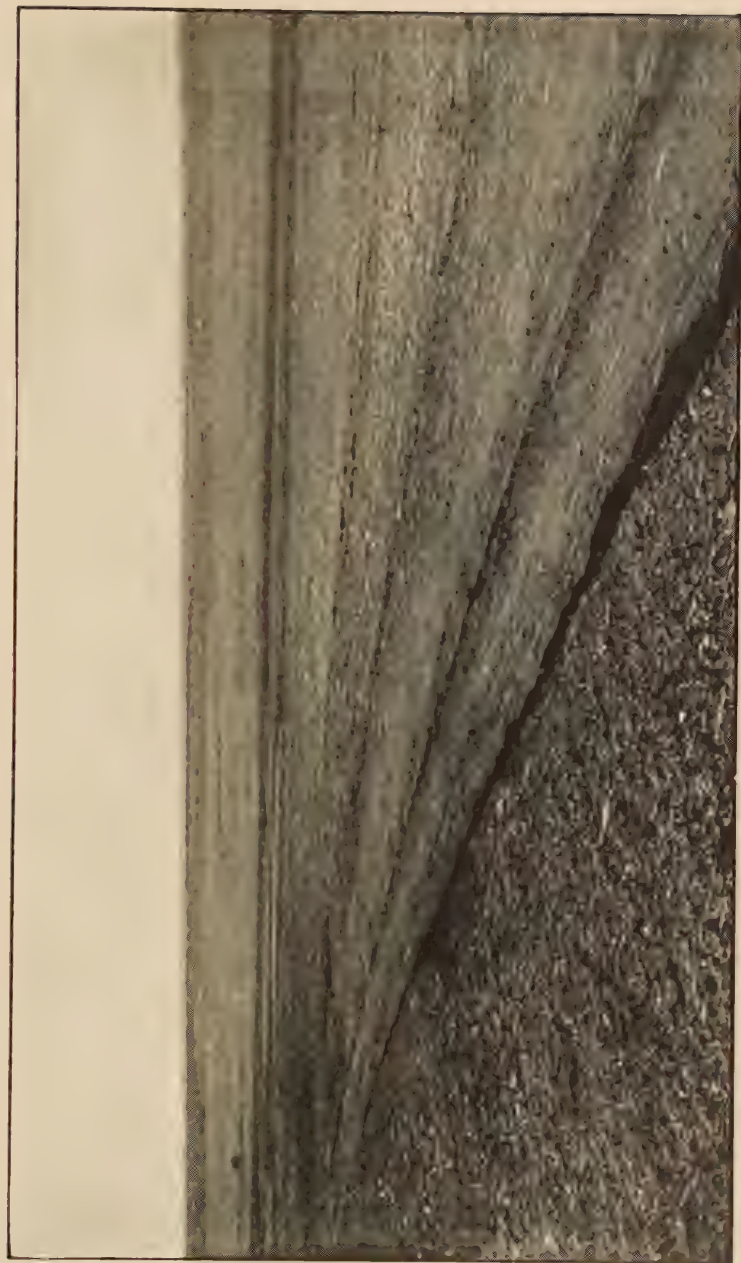

Shall Kingfisher meet the issue? That is the real question for our friends to ponder. This is a country of a multiplicity of crops. With sufficient capital and skill at command there is no limit to what may be accomplished in the way of farming. Market gardens are needed and would flourish; dairying, small fruits (especially berries), poultry, etc., without limit could all be utilized to assist the student.

The plan would perhaps take this form: Let the college own a number of farms. On each one of these let there be a substantial house, part of which is given up for student dormitories and part for the home of one of the professors, the purpose of this arrangement being to secure the atmosphere of the Christian home. Let industries of the sort to furnish employment during certain hours of the day be in operation. Let only those young people be adopted into this Christian college community who shall be recommended as to character and who shall have shown a determination to complete an education.

Then let it be true that any such student can earn all the needed funds to be in school the entire school year. To help young people to help themselves, to assist without pauperizing, is the immediate and pressing task of our institution if we are to do the work to which we are called. To launch this enterprise properly will call for a good deal of capital. Once in operation, however, it ought to care for itself, except as the growth of the college demands the enlargement of this particular enterprise.

The growth of the library this year has been quite notable, especially for the quality of the books added.

Through the kindness of Dr. Day and the trustees of Andover Seminary $150 was received from the Deacon Phillip's estate for the purchase of books of a religious character. This generous gift is greatly appreciated.

A PRAIRIE VIEW FROM REAR WINDOWS OF REDFIELD COLLEGE

It is with mingled hope and anxiety that we announce to the public that Dr. Pearsons has again offered us $25,000 for endowment, with the usual conditions—that other friends contribute $75,000. It is clear that the Southwest should have a strong Christian college.

In this state, where the North and South live side by side, there is the best opportunity that will ever come to bring the sections of our country together.

“Cedar of Maine and Georgia pine” mingled in Longfellow’s “Ship of State.” In Kingfisher College Maine and Georgia and the great West are mingled. It was the son of a Northern man and a Southern woman who won the Rhodes scholarship for Oklahoma, after spending six years in Kingfisher College. It is a graduate of Kingfisher College who is founding an academy within six miles of the Texas border.

The new state of Oklahoma will have over one million population. Opportunity has knocked at our door a second time because we answered the first.

Redfield College, Redfield, South Dakota

The combination of the schools—Redfield College and Wilton Academy, Iowa—has become not only an accomplished fact, but a success beyond the hopes of those most deeply interested. As it was hoped, the increase of the number of German students has amply justified the removal of the school from Wilton to Redfield.

The year’s work has amply justified the union recently made.

Another reason for the combination of the two schools is found in the increased interest men of means have taken in the school. The endowment of $50,000 is an accomplished fact. The legacy from the Kirby estate, of Muscatine, has made a second building possible, which, however, does not cover the need of the institution for more room.

A dormitory for young women is a pressing need, also a library building.

There are over fifteen young men studying for the gospel ministry, who will serve the great German population in the Northwest.

The spirit of the new institution is happy and earnest and the outlook for great usefulness most promising.

Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida

Rollins College has had a pleasant and prosperous year, the twentieth of its existence. Every room in its three dormitories has been occupied, and it has been found necessary, on account of insufficient room and for other reasons, to refuse admission to about a score of applicants, chiefly from Cuba.

Students have come to it from all parts of the United States, and the character and work of the Cuban pupils, of whom there have been about a dozen, has been unusually satisfactory.

The social, intellectual, moral, and spiritual tone of the institution has been maintained on a high plane.

The college acknowledges with gratitude the receipt of $150 from the trustees of the Phillips Fund of Andover; this sum was given for the purchase of hymn books for use in the college chapel.

The Congregational Education Society, which has been the steadfast friend of the college from the beginning, offered to make a grant of $10,000 towards clearing off the indebtedness with which it began the year, on condition that the whole amount necessary be raised.

This has been done, so that for the first time in many years the college is free from debt, except that, on account of the extraordinary exertions which have been necessitated by the raising of an endowment fund of $200,000 and the clearing up of outstanding obligations, a deficit may be incurred during the present year; this is certain to be the case, unless the friends of the college contribute with unwonted liberality toward current expenses.

In addition to the income provided by the endowment fund, it is necessary to raise by subscription about five thousand dollars per annum in order to maintain the school at its present level of efficiency.

The recent passage of the Buckman Bill by the Florida legislature quadruples the opportunity and the responsibility of Rollins College. This bill abolishes the state university, the state college, the state normal school, and the two military schools hitherto maintained at public expense, thus depriving more than a thousand pupils of the academic advantages they have heretofore enjoyed.

The bill provides for the establishment of a University of the State of Florida and a Female College, but under conditions which will make it impossible to organize these institutions effectively for some years to come. Meantime, the responsibility of providing collegiate and normal, and to a large extent secondary, education for an area as large as all New England, and which is rapidly increasing in population, is thrown on two private institutions.

This is Rollins's great opportunity. Will its friends, and the friends of the ideas and ideals for which it stands, help it to take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity? It imperatively needs a new dormitory for men, and its need for other buildings is scarcely less than imperative.

UTAH

Report of Rev. S. H. Goodwin, Field Superintendent

THE general situation in this state remains unchanged, but there are certain significant features and tendencies which have an interest for us, for they affect, directly or indirectly, our own work.

The Smoot investigation drags along and is yet to be concluded, and while there is more or less talk concerning the likelihood of Senator Smoot's resignation such action seems hardly probable.

More and more the presence of the Mormon Church, through its leaders, in the principal commercial enterprises of the state is being emphasized. To the long list of business interests given by President Smith, in Washington, as among the number with which he, officially, is connected, others must be added: To have a leading voice in so many business concerns (and this by virtue of his relation to the church), and at the same time to be the spiritual director of so many people, gives to the president of the church and his immediate advisers a wide-reaching influence and a tremendous power. That such power, with its infinite possibilities, in no way touches politics is too much for belief.

The policy of "colonizing" in other states and in Canada and Mexico is one that is consistently and persistently urged and carried out. The teachings of the leaders at the general conferences and on other occasions are strongly against individual and independent action in the matter of selecting a new home. "Take counsel of the officers over you," is the advice given. "Do not pull up and go off by yourself," said one speaker; "you have no business to do that. Ask advice of your brethren, and go where you will be with others who think as you do, and where you will have the privileges of Latter Day Saints' instruction." Certainly this plan is calculated to give the Mormon people control in such regions, and to constitute a compact, well-organized power that can be wielded by the leaders as their interests may seem to require.

Church schools, i. e., schools established and conducted by the church, in which Mormon theology is one of the subjects taught, are being strengthened and others are being established. The largest school of the kind is in Provo. While this school has lately taken to itself the name "university," a regular high school course cannot be had in the institution. It has a fine plant, hundreds of students, and receives annually $35,000, or more, from the church. Theology (Mormon, of course) is a required study, and is given the same credit as geometry or one of the sciences. A "church academy" has just been established in Coalville, where one of our schools is located.

Criticism from without, and to some extent within the church—really public opinion—has compelled the president of the church and some of the apostles to explain partially the methods of disbursing the enormous sums which come into the hands of the first presidency from tithes; and even the Deseret News, the church paper, has given space on its editorial page to an accounting, in part, of the tithing fund. This is a distinct gain, for only shortly before his death Apostle Brigham Young (son of the first Brigham) told the people in general conference that it was none of their business what was done with the tithing—their part was to pay it; it was the function of the president to dispose of it!

The same power—public opinion—brought about the discontinuance of the so-called "religion classes," which had been organized everywhere, were held in the school-houses, and conducted by the teachers in the public schools. The object of these classes was to afford the school children instruction in Mormon doctrines.

The foregoing are some of the conditions and tendencies in the midst of which our work is being carried forward. That these conditions suggest difficulties must be apparent, and no less clearly do they give emphasis to the need of our work. But though difficult this work is not discouraging.

Especially promising is our Vernal work. Since the close of school a new building has been gotten under way and will be ready for occupancy when school opens in the fall, and the development of the school has been such as to make necessary an additional teacher.

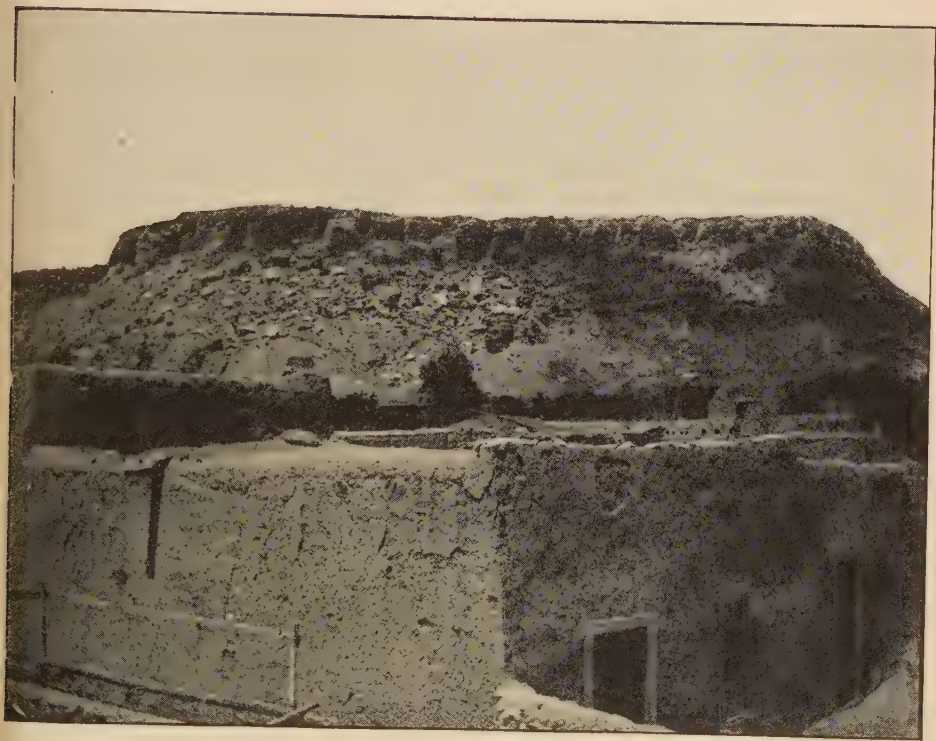

This makes possible high school work and a corresponding widening of our influence in that beautiful valley of the Ashley. The outlook for the successful prosecution of our work there and in the other fields occupied by our schools is most encouraging.

What about results? It is not easy for those who are in the midst of things to write of what is being accomplished, even if such results as those which follow our work could be tabulated.

A single incident may serve as an illustration of a certain phase of such results. A dozen years ago, or more, we had schools over on Kamas prairie in the Weber valley. They were discontinued as a result of hard times, but the fruits abide.

A missionary of the Sunday School Union who was sent into that region about a year ago found several families the heads of which were Mormon born, but who had attended the New West schools and had been led to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus. In a community made up practically of Latter Day Saints, these people through all these years have held to the teachings "once delivered unto them," and are training their children in the same way. At once they took hold of the Sunday school work under the direction of the missionary, and are its loyal supporters.

Conditions may make necessary the abandonment of certain fields, but the impression made by our schools abides and the spirit of the work continues to bless communities.

A MESA AND ADOBE HUT

Bountiful

Enrollment for the year, sixty-three; average attendance, forty. The attendance was decreased by an epidemic of diphtheria in the fall and a smallpox scare this spring. Many of the children come a long distance to school, one and one-half to two miles, and this distance decreases attendance in stormy weather. There are seven grades in school this year, the sixth being lacking. Rev. Mr. Simpkins, of Salt Lake, has been holding services about twice a month in the schoolhouse, and the services are well attended for this place, with audiences of about forty. Three little ones have been baptized, and several more are to be presented for baptism.

The Sunday school has had no outside assistance, as it had last year, though the numbers have kept up well. Twenty-eight enrolled, and the average attendance has been sixteen. There are but five Gentile families represented in the day school, and they for the most part make up the Sunday school.

This is a solid Mormon community, and only the independent class, which is small, send to our school. Our teachers are treated with far more courtesy by the people of the town now than twelve years ago. The teachers of the public schools receive ours in a friendly way, and are willing to compare notes, as they would not have done formerly. Four teachers out of the eight in the town school received their common school training in our school.

We greatly need more room another year. The two departments have been carried on in one room, with just a calico curtain between, all this year, and both sides greatly crowded the most of the time.

If we had a thoroughly well-prepared primary teacher next year we could increase our numbers and the efficiency of our work very considerably. Our school was never more needed than now. This town has no Christian instruction except what we furnish, for there is no Christ in Mormonism.

Coalville

The enrollment has been thirty, with an average of twelve. We opened school with four in September. Some children sent to the public school came back to the New West in January.

As for the Sunday school, it has been very small this season. A good many parents have said frankly that of course if they encouraged the children to go they would do so, but that they thought it better for them to go to their own.

One of our patrons told me last year of Brother — going to her home to get her to take the children away from the New West. She said to me that she should not do it, that she was a “free American citizen.” But last September her little folks were sent to the Mormon school. They have, however, lately come back.

For obvious reasons there is more objection made to the strictly religious work than to our day school.

Wherever there is New West work carried on the church and school officials do all in their power to improve their own educational institutions. They are very soon forced to do this, in the small towns, to keep the mission schools down, so that indirectly every child of school age in the district is affected by the establishment of a Christian school. As for those who have actually attended our schools, while they may remain Mormons, yet they never again believe implicitly what they have been taught concerning the “ungodly Gentiles,” and are very likely to become semi-independent, and consequently better citizens.

The church officials are becoming wealthy. Their president controls about everything of consequence, save the smelters, not only in Utah, but in the region around. I have often noticed on the counters in the shops their peculiar underwear labeled as being approved by the "First Presidency." I have no doubt if one investigated it would be found that the mills are owned by high church officials.

Years ago, in one community at least, when some impertinent people were inclined to make inquiry concerning the disposition of the tithes, they were told that they must pay tithing, that the Lord had commanded it, and, it being the Lord's money, it was nobody's business how it was spent. Even, if it were thrown into the river it did not concern them if they had done their duty, etc. The spirit seems to be much the same at the present day.

The great majority of the Latter Day Saints are hard-working, well-meaning people, but they are expected to "obey counsel."

Heber

The enrollment has been fifty-three, with an average attendance of about thirty. The spirit of loyalty among the pupils has been all that could be asked. Church opposition has kept a number of young people in idleness, but it has not been strong enough to take a single pupil who has enrolled.

The stake president, however, has succeeded admirably in drawing away attendance from the Sunday school, which reached an average of between twenty-five and thirty during the fall, and remained constant until 'about Easter time, when there was a decided falling off. The present average is about half that number.

A collection has been taken in the Sunday school this year, which has not been done before. In this way all Sunday school supplies have been paid for, and a little surplus has been turned toward the payment of the expense of the minister who has made an occasional visit during the winter from Park City. An offering has been taken at each preaching service, which in one instance reached four dollars — pretty good, we think, in such an intensely Mormon community. At one of the preaching services a young girl asked at the door if an admission fee was charged. Mormons evidently do not take an offering in their meetings.

Our patrons are very appreciative of the work done for their children, and many would be glad to have their children under our care.

One good Mormon, whose son, a fun-loving lad of about fourteen, had been giving his teachers a great deal of trouble, had about decided to put him to work. She concluded to try our school this year—a dangerous thing for a good Mormon to do. The boy has given almost no trouble, and will doubtless be able to make two grades by the time school closes. The mother is soundly converted to Congregationalism, as far as it pertains to school work, at least.

The school closed with a reunion of the former pupils of the school, many of whom are now fathers and mothers. A spirit of good will and loyalty for our work is created in this way, and the enthusiasm of former pupils is aroused, which we trust will prove valuable to both them and us in the days to come.

Lehi

Total enrollment, ninety-eight; average attendance, fifty-three; number of grades taught, ten. The seemingly low average of attendance is due to the late entrance into school of many of the boys; also to an epidemic of diphtheria which prevailed during two of the winter months. The enrollment exceeded that of last year by three. The average attendance advanced nearly seven. Nine have been enrolled in the high school department, as against three last year.

The school year closed May 23. Four girls, all members of Mormon families, were awarded diplomas from the grammar department. The closing exercises were largely attended by parents and other citizens, and many were the kindly comments on the results of the year's work.

The Sunday school has been held regularly. The enrollment has been fifty, with an average attendance of twenty-three. Attendance is often in the face of adverse home influences. The "State Church" this past year has renewed its efforts to draw away pupils from both day school and Sunday school.

A Sunday evening service, with preaching by the principal of the school, has been maintained throughout the year. This part of the work has been much appreciated by the few non-Mormon families. It has been the only religious service other than Mormon in this town of three thousand people.

With the present year this school completes the twenty-fourth of its existence. It is, of course, impossible to tabulate in figures the results of its work during this period. Its out and out converts from Mormonism have been few. Its mission would have been defeated had the making of converts been its direct aim. Many hundreds of pupils, probably nine-tenths of them from Mormon families, have passed through its doors. The lives of all, it cannot be doubted, have in some degree been enriched, broadened, and Christianized through contact with the thirty-three teachers of the school. Loyalty to the school on the part of its early pupils is seen in the fact that many of the present pupils are their children. A rumor somehow set on foot that the school might soon close its doors has brought out many remonstrances and expressions of appreciation for its past service. If we hear and see aright, it has had large influence in raising local standards of teaching and education, in liberalizing a most narrow and benighted form of sectarianism, in responding to the educational, social, and religious needs of many individuals. Aside from the general influence of the school on the community at large, one who knows of the blessings which have come into the lives of those who have long been identified with the school makes no question whether the outlay of these twenty-four years have "paid."

Vernal

Enrollment for school year, one hundred; average daily attendance, fifty. Sunday school enrollment, fifty-two; average attendance, twenty-eight.

The great valley, which is the main part of Uinta County, having no railroad, is remarkably isolated from the rest of the state. One result of this separation is that the Mormon spirit is not so strong here as elsewhere. For months the great Vernal Tabernacle has stood unfinished.

There are many here who, having become dissatisfied with Mormon rule, no longer pay tithes to that church. Such are naturally looking to our school for the education of their children.

While we cannot say that our school has had as yet any great influence, yet the attitude of a few leading people has changed from cold suspicion to interest and then to warm appreciation. We are being closely watched, and the results of the Mormon and Congregational systems are being critically compared. The number of pupils which we now have from Mormon families leads us to believe that the comparison is in our favor.

The high school department has been small. The teacher's arrival last fall was so late that many who might have remained had they been sure of a high school had left the valley. This has not been such a misfortune as it might at first seem to be, for, owing to the constantly increasing number of pupils, much help has been needed in the lower grades. Four pupils have nearly reached the tenth grade, having done, as they seem to think, harder work than was ever before done by Vernal students.

Sunday school work has been kept up through the winter, having its sessions in the schoolhouse. Now, as there is a church building and two efficient workers in Rev. and Mrs. Nickerson, the attendance is increasing.

The relation between the day school, Sunday school, and church is very close, and, as our pastor very truly says, the erection of a new and suitable building on the fine city lot belonging to the church will give a feeling of confidence in the permanence of the work that will, if we prove worthy, insure the success of church and school and our leadership in higher education throughout this large region of northwestern Utah.

NEW MEXICO

Annual Report of Rev. J. H. Heald, Superintendent

PROBABLY no man has a more unique and interesting field of labor than that which, in the providence of God, has been allotted to me. In the district fifty miles wide by 250 miles long over which it is my privilege to roam, there are great mountains, deep valleys, and tangled labyrinths of hills and canyons, sculptured buttes and pictured mesas, desert plains and green oases, wastes of cactus and sagebrush, and splendid forests. In this country of contradictions you may find today a dry river bed and tomorrow a raging torrent. In this weird land you encounter the ruins of extinct peoples, extant examples of a civilization as old as Egypt (in the present day Pueblo towns), the mediæval civilization of the Mexican villages, and the beginnings of modern life in the energetic American towns. You find vast tracts visited only by the wandering shepherd, and many little hamlets and villages of from 100 to 1,000 people. There are Indians, Mexicans, foreigners, and Americans.

There are widely different religious beliefs represented — heathen, Mormon, Jewish, Catholic, Protestant — all faiths and none. In this district there are but two ordained Protestant ministers besides myself, one the pastor of a Methodist church, the other a missionary to the Indians.

In the effort to carry the gospel to this region I have traveled this past year 17,484 miles by rail, 1,007 by team and horseback, and 191 afoot; preached 131 sermons; made 689 pastoral visits and seventy-two visits to schools. That phase of the work which has been most encouraging and most promising of permanent results has been the school work. While the mission school is not supposed to be primarily an evangelizing agency, it is such in the broadest and deepest sense. It touches the life at the best time, viz., in childhood, and in the best way, viz., that of the subconscious method in which truth is closely connected with life. Our teachers are "living epistles known and read" by many who cannot read books. By living in the native Mexican community nine months in the year and with the children in the schoolroom six hours in the day, they are imparting a gospel of life without which the gospel of words would be of little avail.

These faithful women who are in the Mexican villages have been living and teaching the kingdom of God as few others in the world, in the midst of privation, a white life in the midst of sin, and a loving life in the midst of a selfish world.

Most of those who support mission schools look, and rightly look, for higher results than merely intellectual education. Frequently we are asked, "How many converts have you had among your scholars?" It must be borne in mind that, working as we do among the children of Catholic parents, we are limited in the methods we may use and in the results we can produce. The best results of our work cannot be tabulated. Christ came "that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly," and there is no doubt that our mission schools are working out his purpose by imparting more life, physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual, to the people among whom they are placed, and that something of the life that is eternal is being imparted to them.

Never have our schools known a more successful year than that which has just closed. Some of them (notably the Cubero school) have been marked by increased attendance, some by increased regularity and punctuality of attendance, all by excellent work and interest.

Our teachers are becoming every year more wise and efficient. Nine of them brought to the work the garnered wisdom and experience of previous years, while three were new to the work; but all have acquitted themselves with credit. To take the shy children of the desert, from whose lips at the start it is difficult to extract an audible sound, to awaken the dormant mind and arouse the ambition, is no easy task, and demands the best of tact and talent on the part of the teacher. To arouse the sleeping moral nature and awaken the conscience that fails to perceive the guilt of a lie is still more difficult; but even this is accomplished by the miraculous power of love and patience.

This year has been free from the pestilence that has devastated our Mexican towns in previous years and robbed us of so many of our choicest pupils. There have not been wanting, however, some few trials; the unwonted rains have caused no little annoyance, both to our teachers and to their people.

The people in the country towns, almost without exception, live in adobe houses with dirt roofs. These houses serve well in our usual dry and sunny weather. Our rains are usually in the form of showers, followed by sunshine, and a well-constructed dirt roof is fairly efficacious in shedding their waters. But such barriers have proved utterly ineffective during this remarkable winter. The native houses, most of them without floors, have been converted into mud holes; not a few have fallen down.

Some of the mission buildings, having been purchased or rented from Mexicans, are built on the Mexican plan, and so several of our teachers (notably those of Seboyeta, where the rains were most severe) have suffered no little inconvenience and danger to health. We trust all have escaped without serious harm, and hope to put the buildings into such shape as to avoid such dangers in the future. Several of our missions have been the place of refuge for numerous Mexican families who have been driven from their homes. Our teachers have met all trials with their usual resolute courage and cheerfulness.

At San Rafael the teachers' house took fire while they were in school. They resolutely entered the burning building, and with the help of their pupils extinguished the flames. So the promise has been fulfilled to them, "When thou passest through the fire thou shalt not be burned." Another of our teachers, in passing through a swollen stream, was nearly swept away, but even so the promise was fulfilled, "When thou passest through the waters they shall not overflow thee." And in manifold ways has the promise been fulfilled to all, "I will bless thee and thou shalt be a blessing."

Atrisco

Enrollment of the school this year is seventy-five, with an average attendance of thirty. This is a marked improvement over last year.

The work in general has been pleasant and satisfactory. This is the first in a series of years where the teachers have not had one or more contagious diseases to fight.

It is necessary to correct an impression that all Mexicans who are not Catholics are Penitentes. That is a mistake. The membership of the little church here is about fifty, seven having been added this year on confession of faith; and, considering the advantages they have had, they compare favorably with American Protestants.

The pastor was absent two or three months, and during his absence the Sunday school was held as usual at the schoolhouse, and the people were invited to visit the teachers' rooms Sunday evening for song and prayer service. Nearly always more came than could be comfortably accommodated. One of the girls, who is not as yet a Protestant, persuaded her family to give up their saints. She argued, "They are not pretty, but very ugly, and cannot possibly do us any good."

Two years ago it was found necessary to put a stone foundation under our schoolhouse, and it is surprising what a good example it was for the people. All the new houses are being built with stone foundations, and some are having a foundation put in as was the one at the schoolhouse.

Barelas

Enrollment, one hundred and nine; average attendance, forty-four. The age of our pupils ranges from four to seventeen years. The advancement made by pupils who have been faithful in attendance has been very satisfactory.

Sabbath school has been maintained throughout the entire year, and the Thursday evening service was discontinued only while the native pastor, Mr. Moya, was conducting evangelistic meetings in other villages.

A little child was baptized a few weeks ago by one of our Mexican ministers, and the following Sabbath its parents united with the little Congregational church at Los Ranchos de Atrisco. The little babe died shortly afterward, and was buried in the little cemetery away off among the sand hills, which is the property of the Los Ranchos church. Some of the Catholic neighbors were very kind to Doña Atoche when her babe died, but she has suffered a severe trial at the hands of a devoted Catholic family. She was arrested for some trivial matter, and many of the neighborhood women were called into court to testify. The judge threatened them with imprisonment if they did not tell the truth, with the result that no one testified against the character of Doña Atoche, and the case was decided in her favor.

There is no doubt that to be converted to Protestantism in these little Mexican villages requires strong courage.

One evening, not long ago, a Mexican woman and her daughter, strangers, came to our teachers in great distress. The husband was very ill; the wife feared he could live but a few days. They were Protestants; had come from El Paso some months ago. They had just learned where the Protestant maestras lived, and had come to see what we could do for them. The mother, in tears, said that her husband, Don Miguel, was about to die, and she must find a minister to come to see him. If she could find no one else she would be obliged to call the padre (father), meaning the priest. It was three days before a minister could be found.

Mr. Moya and Mr. Hernandez held a service at Don Miguel's home, administering the Lord's Supper to a goodly number of Christians, several having come from the church at Los Ranchos. This service was greatly appreciated by Don Miguel and his family. Early the following morning a priest called upon Don Miguel, urging him to confess, saying that the Santa Cena (Holy Supper) had no pardoning power, but that he had. He denounced Los Malos Protestantes, but Don Miguel was steadfast in his faith, and said that he would confess only to God; and the priest left.

The little Sabbath school, aside from paying for its literature, has contributed four dollars to missions this year, and paid five dollars in October toward the bell which is on the schoolhouse, and still has something in its treasury.

Barelas had its share in the experience of flooded houses during the heavy rains of the spring. One morning the teachers were awakened by the rain falling on their bed. As soon as possible a tent was nailed to the rafters of the sitting room for protection. Several houses collapsed. Three families (eighteen people) slept in the dry spots of the large schoolroom.

The Mexicans appreciate the work of the school, and express the hope that it will be continued.

Cubero

Enrollment, seventy-five; average attendance, thirty-six.

A larger number of older pupils have been in attendance than in any previous year.

Five-sixths of the children in town were enrolled in our school when the public school opened, and we had the pleasure of retaining nearly every one upon our list, besides adding a number from the neighboring villages.

Since the mission school was opened there has been a very marked growth in self-respect among the people. Families descended from the peons of the early half of the last century now compare favorably in many respects with the descendants of the blue-blooded aristocrats of those earlier days. Families whose surroundings were pitifully squalid ten years ago are now living in more comfort than their wealthy neighbors possessed at that time. The certainty that children of the poor man may learn to read and write has seemed to awaken the ambition of many a father, who is not now content until he can provide better furniture, better clothing, and better food for his household. Not content with this, he has become ambitious that his children may have far better opportunities than his own.

This new self-respect is helping to form a public opinion which frowns upon quarrelsomeness, and is slowly awakening a consciousness that the grosser forms of sin are degrading, and not the proper subjects of conversation at all times.

Special effort has undoubtedly been made in opposition to our Sunday school work this year, as our attendance, always fluctuating, has been diminishing the last two or three months. Those who remain regular attendants show a keen and thoughtful interest as we have studied the life of Christ.

We do not consider opposition or diminished attendance a discouraging sign; it is only evidence that truth is feared.

San Mateo

Enrollment this year, one hundred and two; average attendance, forty-four. One hundred and sixty-seven persons have been present at different times in the Sunday school, and the average for the year has been thirty-six.

Because there has been much less sickness this year our teachers have been able to give their time strictly to school work. The hand work of the pupils of Miss Smith was carefully preserved, and on the last day of school made a most creditable showing. The parents were delighted with the work; and as one enters their homes, on the freshly whitened walls you at once recognize the work of the "little hands." The girls made sofa pillows and finished quilts, and have them in their homes.

Two of the boys went last fall to Albuquerque to attend the Presbyterian school for boys, working to pay their expense. They have made excellent progress. Their going has been an inspiration to others. Three boys from here have asked for admission the coming year. Our own industrial school is sorely needed.

There were "special meetings" during the winter, conducted by Rev. J. M. Moya. He held three night services and conducted the Sabbath school in the mornings. The meetings were well attended and excellent attention given. On returning to their homes the people hunted up the texts and chapters read in the services and read them over.

A man said to our teacher: "Mr. Moya wrote me that he plans to visit this village every two months. How glad we are! He preaches the true gospel."

One of the prominent men said, last year: "What a difference I see in my village since this school came! I hardly know it! If we are blessed with this school in the future we will see far greater results"

A little girl said, "I read the Bible very often to papa and mamma; they love to hear it."

One day Miss Lamson entered the home of a neighbor, and she said: "Teacher, what is this on the wall? [It was a 1904 calendar.] My little daughter said, 'this is a last year's calendar and is of no use.' Just see what that child knows!"

A gentleman, whose six-year-old grandson is able to write his name and other things, said: "My grandson will always be able to sign documents, checks, papers, etc., something that I, his grandfather, have never been able to do."

Our teachers, who are on the field and who realize the greatness of the work, feel that much is being accomplished. Time and patient work will alone solve the problems.

San Rafael

Number of pupils enrolled, eighty-five; average attendance, twenty-five.

The attendance has been more regular. In addition to the public school in this place, another school was taught during the winter by one of the leading Penitentes, and attended largely by children of Penitente parents. However, we have had some of the Penitente children regular attendants until the arrival of the Lenten season.

The people have been very kind, and have shown by words and acts their appreciation of our school and its work.

The part of the town in which the mission is situated is preferable for residence, because it is more quiet and there is less drunkenness and carousing. There are no saloons in this part of the town. One man, a near neighbor, assures us frequently that were it not for our school he must needs have sent his daughters (three lovely girls) away to school long ago. We are sure that were it not for the mission school much less English would be known than now.

It is a custom among Mexican women to marry at a very early age—as early as twelve years, often at thirteen years—but all of our older girls assure us that they will not marry at such an early age, for the life is too hard for them and they want to know more before they undertake such responsibilities.

Some of the mothers have talked to me and have said they thought it much better to wait until the mature age of twenty before entering married life. Only this winter a little girl of thirteen was married to a man of fifty-four years. Soon he tired of her, and she has gone back to her former home, a wiser but sadder child. The church recognizes no divorces.

We are going to have with us during vacation one of our pupils, a little girl of thirteen, who is ambitious to learn English. She will go with us to our homes in Missouri, and will, we pray, receive good as well as pleasure. The people all seem very much interested in "our daughter." We are now receiving kindnesses from those who heretofore have seemed wholly indifferent.

The children all seem anxious to learn English and are usually brave about using it, even although they sometimes get "mixed"; but what matters it if they say "Good-by" instead of "Thank you," or "Good morning" when the evening shadows are lengthening? By and by they will learn, and, we trust, will be good American citizens, not only in tongue, but in heart and life.

Our Sunday school work has been the most difficult of our work. We have had opposition, and the attendance has been very irregular and fluctuating. But something has been accomplished—the lessons of Christ's life have been taught; most of the children have learned the golden texts; the older ones have committed the names of the books of the Bible to memory, and have also committed many texts, as well as some chapters.

We are thankful for what the year has brought; we are hopeful for the coming year, and shall work and plan for its success.

Seboyeta

Enrollment for the year, eighty-five. The influence of the school in the town is shown by the eagerness of the people to come to the services and listen to the words spoken by our teachers at the Sunday service.

The Sunday school has kept up well this year. The teachers have tried to hold prayer meetings, and when they began "the people misunderstood our motives. The first night we rang the bell, opened the door, and began the services. While no one entered, we could see through the windows faces galore. Through the door we could see lines of men up street and down, all trying to get a peep. Thus for over a month we held our meetings with the congregation on the outside; but when they did enter they all came, and we have had good services all the year. The people have taken part (some of them) in the services. We believe that God was with us, and we have many reasons to be encouraged in our work. The year with our people has been the most blessed year of the past."

THE WORK OF THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY ORGANIZATIONS THROUGH THE EDUCATION SOCIETY

It is gratifying to report a substantial increase in contributions from women's organizations. Last year the total receipts were $13,506.79; this year they were $17,331.58, an increase of $3,824.79.

The list of states is given below :

California	$10.00	Missouri	$573.54
Colorado	31.00	Nebraska	300.00
Connecticut	715.34	New Hampshire	400.00
Florida	3.00	New Jersey	217.00
Idaho	2.00	New York	2,134.44
Illinois	1,886.96	Ohio	882.43
Iowa	217.59	Oklahoma	5.40
Louisiana	12.65	Oregon	10.06
Maryland	4.70	South Dakota	161.77
Massachusetts and Rhode Island	8,700.55	Vermont	215.97
Michigan	80.82	Washington	50.00
Minnesota	352.83	Wisconsin	363.53
			$17,331.58

The institutions aided are given below, although the list is not complete :

Rollins College, Florida; Kingfisher College, Oklahoma; French-American College, Massachusetts; Redfield College, South Dakota; Rogers Academy, Arkansas; Gordon and Procter Academies, Utah; Kidder and Iberia Academies, Missouri; Woodcock and Puget Sound Academies, Washington; Weeping Water, Chadron, Franklin, and Gates Academies, Nebraska; North Wisconsin and Endeavor Academies, Wisconsin; Ward Academy, South Dakota; mission schools in Heber, Coalville, Bountiful, Lehi, and Vernal, Utah; San Mateo, Cubero, San Rafael, Seboyeta, Atrisco, and Barelas, New Mexico—a total of twenty-nine schools and colleges.

A glance over this field shows the importance of this work of our women's societies. The line of their influence has gone out through all the earth. These Christian schools are raising up the future home makers of the Western country. They are the nurseries of missionaries, preachers, and teachers; they are schools of patriotism, missionary impulse, and a high civic idealism. It is significant that more and more, in these latter days, the mothers and wives and sisters are the builders of commonwealths.

They shall have authority to make such rules as they may deem best in regard to the calling of meetings of the Board and the number that shall constitute a quorum; to choose an Institutions Committee and a Student Aid Committee, upon whose recommendations the Board may take such action as they may judge expedient; to appoint a Finance Committee, one of whose duties shall be the making of investments. They shall also have power to appoint District or Field Secretaries, or establish any agency which they may consider necessary, and shall have power to fill, until the next annual meeting, any vacancy in their own number or in any office of the Society. The Board of Directors shall present a report of the work of the Society at each annual meeting. The meetings of the Board shall ordinarily be held in Boston. ARTICLE XI

AMENDMENTS

This Constitution may be changed by a vote of two-thirds of the members present and entitled to vote at any meeting of the Society duly called and organized, notice of the proposed change being given in the call of the meeting at which action is to be taken.

RULES OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 12, 1904

RULE 1. Organization. The Board of Directors shall assemble for organization on the Monday after the annual meeting of the Society, notice of the meeting being sent by the Secretary of the Society. They shall elect by ballot a Chairman and a Clerk, a Finance Committee, an Institutions Committee, a Student Aid Committee, each of which shall have six members, besides the President and Vice-President, who shall be ex officiis members of all committees.

RULE 2. Meetings. The Directors shall hold regular meetings on the second Monday of each month, excepting that the August meeting may be omitted by vote of the Directors. Special meetings shall be called at the written request of three Directors, by giving three days' notice, by letter, to each member of the Board, stating the time, place, and object of the meeting. Seven Directors shall constitute a quorum.

RULE 3. Committees. Within two weeks after the election of the Finance, Institutions, and Student Aid Committees a meeting of each of them shall be held in Boston, at which a Chairman and a Clerk shall be elected by ballot. Such meeting shall be called by the Clerk of the Board of Directors, who shall notify each member seven days, at least, before the meeting. Each of said committees shall hold a regular monthly meeting, except in August, and the Clerk's records and all reports or abstracts of them, or copy of them, shall be kept in the rooms of the Society, in the care of the Secretary, and be open to the examination of the Directors. Other meetings of any of the said committees shall be held whenever the Chairman or any two members shall so request the Clerk in writing, provided notice of the time and place of the meeting is mailed or delivered to each member one day, at least, before the meeting. At any of the meetings aforesaid three members shall constitute a quorum.

RULE 4. Finance Committee. It shall be the duty of the Finance Committee to cause to be kept a book, wherein shall be set forth in detail: (1) all stocks and bonds owned by the Society, at par, with a statement of the original cost of the same to the Society; (2) all real estate (both land and buildings) and other property of the Society, with the full cost of the same; and (3) all property held on special deposit or in trust. This book shall be at all times open to the inspection of any member of the Board of Directors, and the record shall be so amended from time to time, under the direction of the Finance Committee, as to show at all times a correct statement of the property of the Society and of any special trusts in its hands. All title deeds to real estate, mortgages, insurance policies, and certificates of stocks and bonds owned by the Society shall be in the care and custody of the Treasurer, under the direction of this committee, who shall provide a proper place for their safe keeping. They shall also, when occasion requires, direct the sale and transfer of stocks, bonds or mortgages, invest any surplus, or other specific funds of the Society, and in general, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors, shall have the charge of the Society's financial concerns not otherwise provided for. But no investment shall be made without the approval by affirmative vote, or in writing, if otherwise, of at least four members of the committee. The chairman of the committee shall approve all bills before payment thereof by the Treasurer.

RULE 5. Institutions Committee. The Institutions Committee shall keep a book of all institutions aided by the Society and the amount granted to each, and make recommendations to the Directors of the institutions which should receive aid. The committee may also be divided into subcommittees, who may investigate and advise upon particular institutions intrusted to them.

RULE 6. The Student Aid Committee. The Student Aid Committee shall keep a book, containing the names of all students aided by the Society and the amount of the several grants; also recommend to the Directors those whom they approve for aid. The committee may likewise be divided into subcommittees for purposes of investigation and advice.

RULE 7. Western Members. The Western members will be expected to give counsel upon the appropriation of money for such academies and schools, and they shall once, at least, each year transmit to the Board at Boston a summary statement of the condition and requirements of the Society's work, as viewed by them, and this statement shall be a special topic of consideration at the first meeting of the Board after its reception.

No action shall be taken at a meeting held in either section of the country in respect to which the judgment of the members resident in the other section is specially needed, unless seasonable notice shall have been given that such action is contemplated.

A full and attested copy of the record of each meeting of the Board of Directors held in Boston shall be immediately forwarded to Chicago, and shall be either filed or transcribed in such a manner as to form a permanent record at Chicago; and an attested record of the doings of each meeting of the Board held at Chicago shall be entered upon the permanent record of the Board in Boston. A summary statement of the business done at each meeting of the members of the Western section of the Board shall also be promptly transmitted to Boston.

RULE 8. Absences. Any Eastern Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings of the Board held during any one year at Boston, or any Western Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings held during any one year at Chicago, including the meetings of the Board and of the Western section of the Board, unless excused for such absence for adequate reason by the Board or its Western section, as the case may be, shall be deemed to have vacated his office as Director, and the vacancy thus created shall be filled by the election of some other person at the next annual meeting of the Society.

RULE 9. Grants to Students. Applications for scholarships granted by this Society to students for the ministry are approved under the following rules and conditions.

(a) The Society wishes to aid young men of ability and promise who are studying in preparation for the ministry, and who are in need of assistance. The Directors rely largely upon the men themselves, who are thus aided, for assurance that their need of help is real, that they are prudent, economical in the use of money, and that they are shaping their habits of life in a manner becoming to those who are to be teachers and leaders in the Christian church, and specifically abstaining from the use of intoxicants and tobacco.

(b) To receive a grant a student in college must have reached the grade of sophomore, and must have maintained a standard in scholarship of seventy-five per cent, or an equivalent degree under varying marking systems. A beneficiary in a theological seminary must be a graduate of some college of good standing, or a man of such qualifications and promise as may largely compensate for the lack of a college course. The Directors may make grants in special cases to students outside these regular classifications.

(c) It is optional with the student whether the grant be a loan or a gift. If taken as a loan the student shall forward his note for the amount. Such notes, if paid within three years after entering the ministry, shall bear no interest, but from that time they shall bear interest at three per cent.

(d) Scholarships are assigned for one year only. Renewal must be secured by a new application each year, but may not be obtained beyond six consecutive years. The amount of the regular scholarship at present is fifty (50) dollars per annum, payable in two equal installments, December 1 and April 1. Applications should be forwarded to the Secretary before November 1 or March 1.

(e) The Board of Directors shall appoint examining committees, consisting of three persons each at different institutions, throughout the country to make careful inquiry concerning the applicant's religious character, credentials, his motives for seeking the ministry, his abilities, attainments, and promise, also his need of pecuniary aid and his willingness to conform to the rules of the Society. The Directors must depend almost entirely upon the personal estimates which are furnished by the committees appointed for that purpose in the colleges and seminaries with which these students are connected, therefore they expect that these estimates are prepared with carefulness from individual knowledge, and express distinctly the personal judgment of those from whom they come. If the committee decide to recommend an applicant they shall direct him to state in the form of application his name, age, residence, place of education, church membership, need of assistance, and any other facts which may be deemed important.

If there is no regular examining committee in the institution which a student desiring assistance is attending, the Secretary of the Society may be notified of his wish for assistance and a special committee be appointed to examine him.

(f) Before receiving a grant the applicant must give expression to his purpose of devoting his life to the Christian ministry and of taking a full course of theological education, promising that if he shall change his purpose of entering the ministry, he will, within three years after the date of the latest payment, and unless especially released by the Directors for good reasons shown, repay to the Society the whole amount of money received, with three per cent interest on the same from the time of receiving it.

(g) The income which shall provide for the payment of scholarships shall be derived from the interest upon invested funds given for this purpose, and from the gifts of the churches and of special friends for the same object. A gift of one thousand dollars ($1,000), constituting a permanent fund, of which the interest alone shall be used, shall bear the name of the donor, or such name as he may assign. The income of such a fund shall be at once and perpetually applied to the support of a student in prosecuting his studies for the ministry. Such a donor may name a student as the recipient of such a scholarship, provided his application is duly made and approved according to the regulations of the Society. The Society will act as the almoner for any benevolent individuals who desire to assist worthy young men to prepare for the ministry or to procure a Christian education, and will take charge of any funds intrusted to it for this purpose, applying them for the objects and persons designated.

RULE 10. Grants to Institutions. The rules and conditions under which the Society will aid an institution are :

1. It must present to the Directors a certified copy of its act of incorporation.
2. A certified copy of its by-laws.
3. The names of its trustees and number of its students of its several classes.
4. An abstract of title of the property to be covered by mortgage.

5. It must have secured in fee simple and unencumbered, sufficient ground for buildings and campus and assets in buildings, or in money, or in both, to the amount of $5,000.

6. No appropriation voted by the Board of Directors is payable to any institution which shall not prior to such payment have furnished to the Secretary evidence that the property is adequately insured.

7. The institution must be indorsed by the State Association or Conference of the Congregational churches, and by the local Association or Conference within the bounds of whose territory it is located, and it must annually report to the State Association or Conference and have the continued approval of the same so long as it receives aid from the Society.

8. No college will be aided until it has a freshman class of at least four students, and all other institutions must have such a number of students and such status as shall afford evidence of permanency. Every academy must be prepared to give thorough preparation for college.

9. It shall be the duty of the president or principal of each institution that receives aid from the Society to report to the Directors at least annually the financial condition of the institution, the number of its students, and all such facts in regard to its prosperity as it may be desirable for the Directors to know.

10. As the preparation, execution, and approval of the papers require time, the institution should notify the Board of Directors of this Society when the institution will be ready for the payment, and should forward papers named above three months before payment is expected to be made.

11. The time for the Board of Directors voting upon applications for current expenses is their regular meeting on the second Monday in June.

12. Application for aid must be made by a formal vote of corporate board of trustees of the institution, who must also give to this Society a first mortgage, with the usual covenants and power to foreclose (unless such action be illegal by the laws of the state), which must also be recorded, on its building and real estate to cover the sum which has been given or may be given to this institution, in case of a failure to carry out the conditions upon which such appropriations are made, namely :

(a) The institution must be and continue under the control of a self-perpetuating board of trustees, a majority of whom shall always be members in good and regular standing in a Congregational church.

(b) Every school and college aided by this Society must maintain the characteristics of a vitally Christian institution. It is expected that special attention will be given to the study of the Bible and to development of Christian character in the pupils, and that every president and principal shall be members of an evangelical church.

(c) All money received from the Society (except such as may have been designated by the donor or by unanimous vote of the Directors for other use) must be applied by the institution to the payment of salaries, to purchase of books, apparatus, or permanent endowment of chairs of instruction according to the instructions of the Directors.

(d) On failure to carry out any of the above named conditions, or in case the trustees in their management of an institution become subject to political or ecclesiastical control other than Congregational, or shall in any way be diverted from the policy of the said Congregational Education Society, as at present defined in its charter and by-laws, the Society may demand repayment of all sums advanced, and enter and foreclose their mortgage on the property.

13. In order to secure the early occupation of promising fields, and also to exert a more direct influence through the agency of Christian education in sections not yet provided with good common schools, this Society may establish and temporarily maintain academies, training and other schools in localities where it would not be possible or advisable to create local corporations. These it may own, manage, and control, with the ultimate purpose of placing them under the care of self-perpetuating boards of trustees or of disposing of them as the best interests of Christian education may seem to demand.

14. All institutions aided by the Society, either through their federation with the Society by states or by direct grants from the general fund, shall be treated as institutions under the care of the Society. The Society may also act as almoner for individual donors to institutions in the above classes and for other specified Congregational institutions.

RULE II. Amendments. These rules may be changed by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting at any regular meeting of the Directors, notice of the proposed amendment having been given in writing at a previous meeting and in the call sent out for such meeting.
